Gentlemen,

I hope this email finds you well. Congratulations on your Belfast event. I was happy to see that Patricio was able to fight on short notice, and have the opportunity to redeem himself and his legacy after two consecutive losses.

We were hoping to receive a response from you and your team yesterday. Similar to the last few emails I have sent, we have received no communication or efforts to resolve this problem with Gegard and PFL despite how pressing this matter has become. With that being said, I listened to Don's interview with Ariel Helwani last week in which he was promoting the upcoming Riyadh PPV. He mentioned and promoted various inactive PFL fighters like Cyborg and Francis. Unfortunately, zero mention was made of Gegard being on that card despite there being no question that the budget could support having him on that event. It is disappointing to be in a situation where we have a promoter that either does not have a priority to promote us, or does not have an intention to book Gegard for a fight that has been owed for over a year now. My question is does PFL have an intention and a commitment to book Gegard on the Riyadh PPV event? Please note, that even if he gets booked on that card and assuming it happens in September, that will be approximately 1 ½ years that Gegard has been marinated during a vital era of his career. Which is unacceptable. Every quarter that PFL refuses to perform is another critical portion of Gegard's career that is wasted that he can not get back.

Please also note that parties have been contacting us asking if we are retired. Which is insane as we have been ready, willing, and able to compete 2-3 times a year for the last 7 years. We have not responded up until this point as we have tried to gain clarity with what your intentions and plans are with Gegard. Which has been unsuccessful. As we are clearly not being promoted by our promoter, and false rumors are swirling in the market about Gegard to the detriment of his brand; we have no choice but to promote ourselves. We are in the process of scheduling various interviews with high profile journalists in our space to give an update on Gegard.

I hope we can find a resolution to this outstanding problem.

Best,

Nima

Gentlemen,

I write to you with profound concern regarding the treatment and future opportunities for Gegard Mousasi under the Bellator/PFL banners. The recent developments stemming from the new streaming partnership with Bellator raise critical issues that cannot be overlooked.

It has come to our attention that, due to the scheduling constraints imposed by the new partnership, Gegard may not have the opportunity to compete until September, following the Dublin event in June. This prolonged period of inactivity—nearly 1 ½ years since his last contest—poses significant risks to Gegard's legacy, his ability to adequately prepare for a fight, and his financial well-being. That is assuming he gets booked for September which there is no reason to believe will even happen.

I find it incomprehensible that one of the most prominent figures in your roster, and indeed in this sport, would intentionally be subjected to such treatment. This is not historically how this sector has treated its legends especially when they are still capable and very competitive. This intentional departure from the spirit of the terms that induced Gegard to sign with Bellator, along with a blatant disregard for the assurances and promises made to Gegard thereafter is deeply troubling.

Despite our attempts to address this matter, the responses received thus far have been inadequate. Last December, I personally brought attention to this seriousness of this issue to various senior members of the talent team which I received almost no response. Thereafter, excuses have been provided for Gegard's forced inactivity, which only serve to exacerbate our concerns. Our suggestions for potential matchups, including fighters like Ray Cooper, were immediately dismissed because we were told Cooper was unavailable. However, a few short weeks after he was booked on the exact event we requested against another opponent.

The disparities in treatment become glaringly apparent when comparing Gegard's situation to that of others. Claims of Gegard's compensation being prohibitive are contradicted by the scheduling of short notice fights for fighters who command higher pay. In the hope of finding compromise, we even proposed for Gegard to compete in your PFL 205 lbs. tournament which was met with silence.

It is evident that there is a fundamental lack of intention and reckless disregard to honor the commitments made to Gegard. If this is indeed the case, I believe we are left with no choice but to explore the option of PFL buying out Gegard's contract. That is not what we wanted as we were enthusiastic and optimistic about the merger. However, I don't see any other choice if PFL refuses to perform. With that being said, if there remains a genuine desire to fulfill the terms of the agreement in good faith, then we must engage in a constructive dialogue on how Gegard will be utilized immediately for the 2024 calendar.

I request that you provide clarity on the next steps by Monday, March 25, 2024. As always, I am available at your earliest convenience to discuss this matter further.

Best Regards,

Dear Gentlemen,

I hope this email finds you well.

Firstly, I'd like to extend my congratulations on the success of the recent event in Riyadh. It was undoubtedly a remarkable achievement.

I'm reaching out to address a matter that has come to my attention regarding Patricio Freire. Patricio has been swiftly scheduled for a short-notice opportunity to compete on March 22, 2024. While I understand the circumstances surrounding his fight in Riyadh and his status as Champion, I believe it's essential to highlight the disparity in treatment between Patricio and Gegard.

Gegard has fought significantly fewer times than Patricio in the past two years and is currently receiving a lower compensation. More specifically, Patricio has fought 5 times in the last 2 years. In May, Gegard will have fought 2 times in 2 years. However, considering that there is no solution to Gegard's situation, that figure will likely be worse as it seems as though he is going to be sidelined for a greater period exceeding May 2024. Despite this, an immediate and creative solution was found for Patricio's situation even though he gets a higher compensation and he fights far more frequently than Gegard. However, when it comes to Gegard, we seem to be in a holding pattern, with no clear path forward.

Considering Gegard's inactivity, it's concerning that he may face up to a year (or more) without competing, which will adversely affect his career. I firmly believe that Gegard and PFL's obligations and opportunities to one another should be treated with the same urgency and priority as Patricio's.

In light of these circumstances, I kindly request that Gegard also be booked for an upcoming event in the coming months. Given the precedent set with Patricio's situation, I trust that we can find a similar solution for Gegard, especially considering the length of time he has been sidelined.

I would greatly appreciate your guidance on the next steps for Gegard and how we can move forward to ensure his active participation in upcoming events.

Thank you for your attention to this matter. I look forward to your response.

Best regards,

Hi Everyone,

I hope you're all having a successful trip in Riyadh and gearing up for the big event this week.

I wanted to provide an update on the conversation Mike Kogan and I had two nights ago (Wednesday). We had a productive discussion where we exchanged our respective situations and points of view.

As I anticipated from the outset, we understand the need to be strategic with Gegard's usage from a budget perspective. While this isn't an issue specific to Gegard, we acknowledge the challenge the promotion faces with fighters of his caliber. We've always aimed to be good partners in addressing this issue. My frustration stems from knowing about this challenge since December. When Derek Brunson declined to fight us in Riyadh, I made numerous attempts to communicate with Ray, Greg Savage, and Eduardo over the Christmas holidays, emphasizing the urgency of booking Gegard in Riyadh to avoid complications for PFL throughout the year. It felt like almost a frantic plea as I was calling, texting, and emailing anyone that would hear me. Unfortunately, due to the holiday season, I didn't receive much feedback, and it wasn't prioritized afterward as the promotion was focused on other matters. Mike Kogan wasn't in his position at that time, so I didn't contact him.

Moving forward, Mike assured me that the company is committed to finding a solution for Gegard, which we sincerely appreciate. We remain optimistic that after the Riyadh event, there will be more bandwidth available for new positive developments within PFL, allowing us to find a fantastic solution that benefits Gegard and both the PFL and Bellator platforms. I'll check in with everyone again a week or two after the Riyadh event. In the meantime, please feel free to reach out if I can assist with the process for Gegard or any of my other athletes.

Wishing you all a fantastic event this weekend, and know that we'll all be rooting for your success.

Gentlemen,

I hope this message receives you well. I wanted to follow-up on Gegard and try to make some synergistic progress on this issue prior to PFL traveling to Riyadh for the PPV event in the coming week. We are again asking PFL/Bellator to discuss and formulate a meaningful strategy for Gegard for 2024. At this point, and since PFL purchased Bellator, I have suggested 4 different fight options since January 2024 for Gegard. None of which I have received any discussion on. As a matter of fact, one of the suggestions I made for Gegard was to fight Ray Cooper in Riyadh and it was ignored. But weeks later Ray was booked on that same event with another opponent. I have also asked numerous times both telephonically to Ray and via email on this thread that we schedule a call so we can formulate a strategy for 2024 for Gegard. I also said that Gegard would make himself available for the call should you feel that would be helpful. That seems to have also been rejected as no one has responded to that request. Mike Kogan has told me he will call me, but I have yet to have received a phone call from him on this matter and it has been ongoing since January.

I want to also bring to everyone's attention the following. In three months, it will be one year since Gegard's last fought. Prior to that, Gegard was sidelined for a year between his Eblen and Fabian Edwards bouts much to Gegard's regret and disappointment as we had asked for a fight within a month or so after he fought Eblen. He is not being allowed to fight actively, and from a consumer's perspective an impression is going to the market that every time he fights he is coming in and out of retirement. Which is not something we ever wanted.

The spirit of the deal between Bellator and Gegard was always for him to fight a minimum of 2-3 times a year. He has averaged 1 fight a year throughout his tenure at Bellator. Its very unfortunate, as these are the best years of Gegard's prime that are being wasted by inactivity. We were always promised that he would be more active. These are also the most important fights that will secure his livelihood for his retirement. Instead, and respectfully, we are being marinated into obscurity which can be fatal to Gegard's brand and his ability to bring value to your organization. Furthermore, Gegard has actively been training without any knowledge of when he will fight. I am afraid he will be susceptible to overtraining and getting injured. We need to understand what is happening so we can responsibly manage his training schedule and his finances. All of which have been in further disarray due to the uncertainty of this most recent merger.

At the end of the day, Gegard is one of the few legends left in the sport that is still fighting very competitively. PFL is a fighter first promotion, and Gegard wants to be a good partner and elevate the PFL/Bellator brands. If you can please advise us on what the plan is for 2024 we would greatly appreciate it as we need some structure to plan out the year for Gegard's finances and his training regimen.

I am available at your convenience, and I appreciate your understanding on this matter.

All the best,

Neems

Hi Mike.

I understand who he is fighting and the fact that he is replacing an injured fighter. Coming off of a loss, he is fighting a welterweight champion at a catch-weight of nearly 185 lbs. My point is we were told it was not an option for Gegard weeks ago because he was unavailable to compete despite the fact that it made a lot of sense on paper. It was not a match-up to consider for that reason so not even an effort was made to explore the opportunity. And now he is on the card that we wanted to fight him on. Respectfully, that is where my confusion and disappointment is coming from.

Sure, I am happy to chat tomorrow. I am just concerned that there is a lack of motivation to activate Gegard that will damage his brand and his ability to make a contribution to the PFL platform. All we want is to be good partners to PFL and to create a path forward to help build the brand. It is not easy to do that if we get marinated into obscurity.

I appreciate everyone hearing me out.

Hello Everyone.

I just read that Ray Cooper is now scheduled to fight on the Saudi card. Which is great. I truly believe he will be a great addition to that event. With that being said, when Brunson refused to fight Gegard, I had suggested to Ray to put us against Ray as both fighters are former champions in Bellator/PFL, both guys can fight at 185 lbs, and stylistically it would be an intriguing match-up and it would have been a barn-burner of a fight. Also, since Brunson refused to fight us, we would take the guy that Brunson just beat which on paper would look fine as both guys are coming off of losses. I was told that Ray Cooper would be not be an option because he is dealing with personal matters and has no intention to fight anytime soon. And now I see that he has been booked on the very card we had asked to be matched on. Unfortunate as it feels like a lost opportunity. I believe a match-up with Gegard would have been very compelling from a consumer perspective, and would have made a lot of sense.

Mike Kogan has asked that he and I speak tomorrow after your presser. Understandably, he has been very busy. Hopefully, we can have some promising strategy for 2024 for Gegard.

Thanks very much.

Hello Gentlemen,

I hope everyone is doing great. Congratulations on the announcement yesterday for the event in Saudi Arabia. Gegard had hoped to be on that card. Unfortunately, that won't be the case. With that being said, our focus now is the future and our collective efforts to map a plan out for Gegard and PFL/Bellator in 2024.

I had asked both Ray Sefo and Mike Kogan that if we could not place Gegard on the event in Saudi Arabia, for us to have a chat and make a plan for 2024 together. Ideally, we would like to fight at 185 lbs. If that is impossible for whatever reason, we would like to propose the following. Gegard is prepared to participate in the PFL $1MM 205 lb tournament against Derek Brunson in the first fight of the PFL season. If chosen, we plan on winning the tournament. As PFL/Bellator wanted to make that fight in Saudi Arabia, we believe that match makes the most sense from an entertainment and sports perspective. To start, the stylistic match-up is super intriguing. That is a match-up that should have happened years ago in the UFC and now in the PFL. I don't believe Brunson can have any more reasons not to accept the fight should it be in the tournament. Also, since both fighters are coming up from 185 lbs it makes the most amount of sense. From a consumers' perspective it is a intriguing match-up knowing their history and that both are coming up from 185 lbs. Furthermore, both will be the most well known names in the division. In reality, they would probably be most suited to headline that card or be co-main event worst case scenario.

Please let me know if that is an idea we can explore together. If it is not, please let me know when we can please chat to make a plan for Gegard in 2024. He is a valuable asset for the organization, and it would be a lost opportunity not to capitalize on what he brings to the table. He is on the Mount Rushmore of best MWs, and he is one of the best fighters this sport has ever produced. I can't think of any fighter that has had his longevity of staying at the top for 2 decades. Our goal is to be a great partner to PFL/Bellator; and to show that this organization is the best promotion on the planet. We are your partners.

Thank you in advance for the consideration and feedback.

All the best,

Neems
